This Live Activity has been approved for 21 AMA PRA Category 1 Credit(s)™

Topics covered include: Clinical updates, the application of advanced techniques and technologies in care, economics and political issues and clinical controversies.

ACRO 2017 will also include 8 ABR SAM Credits at no extra charge to attendees.
Over the past quarter century, ACRO has hosted the conference for radiation oncologists, encompassing a broad spectrum of educational offerings in a comfortable and effective learning environment featuring presentations from the best and brightest minds in cancer treatment. The 2017 meeting will stick closely to the spirit of previous conferences but this year have even more opportunities to network with peers and create new professional connections.

The scientific program theme for this year’s conference is “Radiation Oncology: An Expanding Role”. As our patients and practices change, we’ve created a program aimed at giving you the knowledge and connections to grow professionally, see and hear the latest best practices in the field, and meet some familiar and new faces.

One of the hallmarks of ACRO annual conferences is their low-stress approach to intense CME. There is no rushing around to get from one short presentation to another; all sessions are in the same room and the right length to allow ample time for each speaker to explore the subject and answer questions. If you want an in-depth and practical discussion of the subjects important to you from top clinical experts – AND the opportunity to ask questions one-on-one – ACRO 2017 IS FOR YOU.

Please join us and register today!

Warm Regards,

James Welsh, MD, FACRO

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:
At the conclusion of the conference attendees should be able to
1. Implement the latest scientific advances into evidenced based standards of care in radiation oncology.
2. Demonstrate competence in billing and coding for radiation oncology treatment in the face of increased governmental regulation and financial cuts.
4. Describe and apply state of the art treatment management for Genitourinary, Central Nervous System, Lung, Breast, Head and Neck, and Gastrointestinal Malignancies
5. Interpret the changing political, economic, and regulatory health care environment in order to survive the year ahead.
6. Link clinical/practice updates to address clinical controversies in tumor boards and grand rounds

ACCREDITATION, CME CREDITS AND DISCLOSURE:
This activity has been planned and implemented in accordance with the accreditation requirements and policies of the Indiana State Medical Association (ISMA) through the joint providership of Community Health Network and the American College of Radiation Oncology. Community Health Network is accredited by ISMA to provide continuing medical education for physicians.
Community Health Network designates this live educational activity for a maximum of 21 AMA PRA Category 1 Credit(s)™. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.
While offering the CME credit above, this activity is not intended to provide extensive training in the field. ADA accommodations are available upon request.
Community Health Network has implemented a process whereby everyone who is in a position to control the content of an educational activity has disclosed all relevant financial relationships, with any commercial interest. In addition, should it be determined that a conflict of interest exists as a result of a financial relationship, it will be resolved prior to the activity.
